

Engaging communities on energy and climate change

Programme Outline

This course is delivered by Chris Church for Talk Action. This page outlines the course and its' objectives. This course will help you:

- * Understand why community engagement on climate change can be problematic;
- * Identify ways in which community engagement can deliver lasting change on climate issues;
- * Understand community work as it relates to current issues such as the Green Deal
- * Understand scoping and planning for local engagement work
- * Be clear on ways to open a dialogue around climate change;
- * Be ready to lead discussion on the positive aspects of low carbon living
- * Be clear on how best to support and work with communities and to develop action plans

➤ Introduction – what we will cover and why
➤ Climate change: the specific challenges for engagement
➤ The current context
➤ Why work with communities?
➤ Working with communities and stakeholders
➤ A positive future?
➤ Tackling engagement and the 'difficult questions'
➤ Working with diverse communities
➤ Action Planning